

TEACHING TIPS . . . Roderick McDaniel, Torrance school district administrator of the Educational Materials Building, will present a workshop on poetry today at 4 p.m. in the Seaside School, 4651 Sharynne Lane. He reviews material for presentation at the workshop for teachers.

Poetry Will Be Featured At Literature Workshop

Teaching tips on how to sharpen listening and ausing skills through the enjoyment of poetry will be offered Torrance teachers today at an institute on literature.

The session is scheduled for 4 p.m. at the Seaside School, 4651 Sharynne Lane. Conducting the institute will be Roderick McDaniel, administrator of the Educational Materials Building.

McDANIEL WILL offer teaching tips on how to sharpen listening and ausing skills through the enjoyment of poetry. Taped excerpts of Carl Sandburg, Dr. Frank Baxter, John Hall Wheelock and Robert Frost will be featured.

Recordings of performers reading poetry will include Alexander Scourby, Martin Greene reading Ogden Nash and Arnold Ross reading Poe.

Campaign Workers Selected

A resident of Lomita and one in Torrance have been named Heart Sunday community chairmen.

They are Mrs. Edward F. Seibold of 25019 Andreo St., Lomita, and Mrs. R. E. Shaffer of 2052 Santa Fe Ave., Torrance.

The two women will be responsible for recruitment and training of persons who will collect contributions for the Heart Assn. on Heart Sunday week end, Feb. 14-17.

Mrs. Henri Front of 4154 Via Lada, Torrance, is serving as Heart Sunday regional chairman of the Southwest area.

"WITH $465,000 from Los Angeles County Heart Assn. contributions being donated to heart research last year, we have, possibly, a greater stake in the current campaign for funds, than citizens of any other community in the country," stated Mrs. Front.

"A large portion of research money is diverted to heart and blood vessel research in Heart Assn. Cardiovascular Laboratories at UCLA and Loma Linda University. Some 32 scientific investigators in other colleges and universities in the county receive support in basic and clinical research."

Mrs. Front urges those wishing to give a few hours to this important health effort to call the Heart Assn., 371-3591, located at 16811 Hawthorne Blvd., Lawndale.

NEW AND OLD poetry anthologies as well as titles by individual poets will also illustrate McDaniel's discussion of the importance of poetry in the literature program.

All books, recordings and tapes used during the institute will be available for checkout to Torrance teachers from the Educational Materials Building. Lists including a selected bibliography and teaching suggestions will be presented to those attending.

"The award provides appropriate recognition to senior students within the highest scholastic standing in science subjects," Guengerich added.
